(b) whether there is any proposal under consideration to ban fielding of candidates having more than two children in any election from Panchayat to Parliament, if so, the details thereof;

(c) whether Prime Minister would like to convene a meeting of leaders of various parties in Parliament to draw a strategy on the subject as a country man over and above party affiliations; and

(d) if so, by when and if not, the reasons therefor?

THE MINISTER OF STATE OF THE MINISTRY OF HEALTH AND FAMILY WELFARE (SHRI N.T. SHANMUGAM): (a) No, Sir. The population of India is projected to reach the one billion mark on 11th May, 2000.

(b) to (d) The Constitution (Seventy Ninth Amendment) Bill, 1992 was introduced in Rajya Sabha in December, 1992. Under the provisions of the proposed Bill, a person shall be disqualified for being chosen as, and for being a Member of either House of Parliament or the legislative Assembly or, as the case may be, either House of the Legislature of a State, if he/she has more than two children. However, it will not apply to those who already have more than two children or those who beget an additional child within one year of the commencement of the Act.

The Bill has been recommended by the Standing Committee of the Parliament on HRD for consideration and passage, with the recommendation that before moving the Bill for consideration a meeting of political parties may be convened to arrive at a consensus. Accordingly, a meeting of the political parties was held under the chairpersonship of MOS (H&FW) on 14th August, 1997. It was felt that further consultation with political leaders is required to arrive at a consensus on the subject.

Another meeting of leaders of political parties/Groups in the Parliament was held on 13th December, 1999. However, no consensus emerged during the deliberations.

The discussions are continuing to arrive at a consensus among political parties, for passage of the Bill.
